With Hobie sunglasses, you get the experience of the company in making sunglasses especially for fishing. Along with the polarized lenses, these fishing sunglasses contain hydrreflective coatings to give you the best possible vision whether you are fishing or just lying on the beach. In the process of making these sun glasses, Hobie applies a series of coatings to the lenses under very controlled conditions. This produces lenses that not only block the glare but also shed water.

When you are fishing on a sunny day, the glare on the water sometimes makes it hard for you to keep track of your lure. The polarized lenses in the fishing sun glasses made by Hobie take care of this problem for you. The Hobie sunglasses filter out the glare and only let the light through that you need. The result is that you have sun glasses that protect your eyes from the UV rays, reduce the strain on your eyes and improve your field of vision.

Every pair of Hobie sunglasses on the market goes through rigorous testing before they leave the factory. Because of this, these fishing sunglasses carry a manufacturer's warranty against any defect in the lens. If you purchase Hobie sun glasses and you have a problem with the lens, the manufacturer will replace the sunglasses for you free of charge.

As with other designer sun glasses, there are several styles of Hobie sunglasses for you to choose from. These fishing sunglasses are suitable for wearing anywhere so they are fashionable. Choose from a satin black frame with a gray lens, dark brown frame with a copper lens or a satin black frame with a blue mirror lens. And just like the other sun glasses, you can order your Hobie sun glasses online. However, you do have to be careful to order from an authorized dealer. This is because purchasing these sunglasses for fishing from a dealer not authorized by Hobie could mean you don't have a warranty.
