Men's chaps

Chaps are the protecting accessories for legs. They are mostly made of sturdy leather. These men's chaps protect the legs while driving motorcycle. The two-wheeler drivers, in case of motorcycle racing, commonly wear these chaps. These are main parts of the attires of drivers and are available in pairs. Chaps are tied on trousers with help of integrated belts but at the same they are not joined to the trousers and are separate accessory.

There are mainly two types of men's chaps available now days and they are batwing and the shotgun. The batwing chaps are flat at the bottom and have only two fasteners to protect thighs of the driver. This batwing chaps provide easy movements of lower legs while riding the motorcycles; especially in motorcycle races. In some cases, batwing chaps are useful for the mountaineers. Other advantage of batwing men's chaps is that it provides easy circulation of air and provides more comfort during riding and climbing.

The shotgun chaps wrap complete portion of legs, are narrow and snug in shape. Each shotgun men's chap is made from single piece of leather. These shotguns chaps are available in two varieties; one of them is to pull onto the trousers and the other has zippers for fitting on the legs. These types of chaps are used while riding horse and protect the rider from heat, which is necessary during windy and cold conditions.

The cowboys, to protect their legs from cattle and horses, also use the men's chaps.

The main advantages of chaps include protection from thorns and preserve the rider's trousers from dust.

Ladies chaps
