Growth of offshore outsourcing services India: reasons and types of success stories.

Outsourcing when it first began in the early 1980's dealt mostly with the non-core business functions of the IT industry that were related to setting up and maintaining customer service support groups, as aided by call centers and BPOs, managing back-end processes and technical help-desk responsibilities. Slowly, their sustained success, reduced cost of operations, better tactical and more professionally managed portfolio of services aiding confident, cohesive and strategic approach business continuity and growth helped BPO service providers in the IT domain offer the same quality to other industries, such as financial, medical, educational and legal companies. Thus, started the current wave of offshore outsourcing services India with more innovative management approaches, reliable and cost-effective delivery of seamless integration of business operations and better formal governance structures so customers and their business were always assured of the opportunity to excel through cost-efficiency, agility and growth - and so it has remained, especially with www.eupath.com
